GM web site for first responder information on airbags and pretensioners

GM's STC First Responder web site (www.gmstc.com) contains free-of-charge, publicly available information on:

- Specific systems (e.g., air bags and safety belt pretensioners) and
- GM's alternative fueled vehicles (e.g., individual GM hybrid products and the Equinox Fuel Cell). The GM web site includes quick reference sheets and more comprehensive references guides -- for download or printing; for use in training, reference, or at the scene.

Also, the web site includes a "Contact Us" option for feedback and questions. GM continues to enhance the web site as new products are introduced (including alternative fueled vehicles in field trials or vehicles sold into commerce) and to address first responders / emergency rescue questions.
