Command 101: The Initial Decisions

The initial decisions made at an incident set the stage for success or failure. A company officer is usually the first on the scene and is tasked with making a quick assessment often having limited resources! This seminar will prepare company officers to make sound strategic and tactical decisions. Good decisions aren't made by mistake. They come from have a good training and strong fundamentals. Your firefighters deserve a good boss who will look out of their interests keeping them from harms way. Don't cheat them!

FEAR FACTOR: What do you fear?

Everyone fears something. What do you fear? As a fire officer we hope you understand the need to do the right things ALL the time. There is no room for error when you are dealing with other's lives. Doing the right thing has nothing to do with the size of your department, career or volunteer or your call volume Your should fear losing or injuring those who work for you and those you protect. Your actions or inaction may cause you to lose or injure on of your own. Don't let this happen to you.
