

BROOME COUNTY FIREFIGHTERS' ASSOCIATION

BROOME COUNTY, NEW YORK

NYS AFC Fall 2011 Seminar Series "Firefighter Safety & Survival: Recognize & Survive" with Lieutenant Tim Klett, FDNY

This program will provide an in depth look at the events leading up to any firefighters worst nightmare, a line of duty death. In this day of FAST or RIT teams, getting out alive or saving our own training, and new personal safety systems, there is really no true awareness training. Everything being taught is reactionary for when we get ourselves into trouble. Students will learn the warning signs or red flags that should alert everyone to a developing problem. The program will review several line of duty deaths and call attention to several warning signs that went unnoticed. Students will examine the transmission of "maydays" and "urgents" and the information that should accompany each. Our best survival training is awareness and our ability to react to the signs of a changing fire situation; it is time to "recognize and survive."

Tim Klett is a 29-year veteran of the fire service. He was a volunteer with the Newington (CT) Fire Department before becoming a paid firefighter with the City of New Britain (CT) Fire Department until his appointment to the FDNY in 1990. Klett worked in Engine Co. 69 of Harlem, one of the FDNY's busiest engines, for 12 years. He currently works in the Bronx, assigned to Engine Co. 88 in the 7th Division. Klett served on FDNY's research and development team, which developed the department's new PSS safety system. He also developed the engine company operations course for FIRESCUE Interactive's training facility and serves as the school's lead engine instructor. Klett is a certified New York state instructor, adjunct instructor for the Connecticut State Fire School, and frequently speaks about engine company operations. The author of "Stretching and Operating the First Line" published in Fire Notes by the Fire Department Training Network, Klett has written several articles for national fire service publications.
