

Learning and leadership are inseparable in the fire service. There are many programs available on fireground strategies and tactics, but few opportunities for the advancement of leaders on and off the emergency scene.

NYSAFC has assembled some of the best minds in leadership development for this unique program, designed to help even the most seasoned veterans reestablish their vision and focus in these fast-paced times.

Your department's leaders will be given the opportunity to look at themselves and your organization in a new light. Surrounded by other emergency services professionals, you will go home with new ideas, energy, and the contacts and information you will need to help your agency move forward.

Each session offered will provide you with the foundation and tools to begin thinking strategically for your organization. Programs will provide your leaders with an opportunity to push their level of thought about fire department operations, organization, and personnel to a new level.
